

A Brief NAC History

NAC began in the late 1970's with a few teachers from Wayne Central. It started as a way for teachers to get together and perform skits for each other and for their students and neighbors. There was PTA involvement, also. Marian Wulfert, Nancy Jordan, and Michael Grow organized and incorporated Neighborhood Acting Company in 1978. Shows were performed from the early 1970's through 1983, when the group eventually phased out for a few years. In 1991, the group reformed, with Marian Wulfert at the helm. NAC drew up a charter, wrote by-laws and applied for non-profit status. It gained 501C-3 status in 2014. with the sole purpose of providing scholarships* for graduating seniors who participated in the shows in a variety of capacities: both onstage and behind the scenes.

*Scholarship Information

Scholarships are awarded to graduating seniors from Wayne Central High School who have participated in NAC Shows, either as actors or as behind-the-scenes workers, who plan on attending college
